

CONGRESS HAS ROOSEVELT'S FARM SCHEME

Emergency Measure To Encounter Determined Opposition

BULLETIN
Washington, March 17—(AP)—The Senate Agricultural committee decided today that the Roosevelt farm measure was a revenue bill and as such must originate in the House—necessitating that any Senate action in the bill be withheld until it has been passed by the House.

A joint statement from seven farm organizations today urged immediate enactment of the farm relief program and warned that "delay will be fatal."

Washington, March 17—(AP)—President Roosevelt's bold prescription for the nation's agricultural ills was bound today up a rougher road than any of the three previous proposals for emergency action routed to Congress in the last eight days.

The others, now that beer is about through, appear to have been triple plays. White House to Congress to the law books. The farm program faces troubles midway along that path in the Senate where there were signs of a rebellion in Democratic ranks.

A possibility existed that the House would pass the bill before the end of the day and that at its latest, would complete action before adjournment Saturday. Its Agriculture committee ended a two-hour session on the plan this morning without taking any action, but planned to reassemble for an afternoon session.

Friends of the administration program, although confident of its ultimate passage by the Senate, admitted that progress there will probably be slower than that recorded by the Roosevelt proposals for banks, economy and beer.

Charge "Rubber Stamp"
There was a scattered undercurrent of hostility toward the measure. Senators Russell of Georgia and Long of Louisiana indicated dislike for the speed with which the Senate is acting; others said the proposed "rubber stamp" procedure.

Meanwhile, representatives of processors hurriedly analyzed the long and complicated bill, some of them definitely committed to battling its enactment. Others were stilled by the President's plea in his special message to Congress yesterday for "a fair trial" of the measure.

Some processors were particularly interested in a provision that would let Secretary Wallace require all to be licensed, whether they handled commodities named in the bill or competing products. This would permit assessment of $1,000 a day fines against those who operated without licenses.

To Be No Coercion
Wallace, however, indicated he did not intend to use this unless processors failed to cooperate willingly.

Based on recommendations of farm organization leaders and editors, the program would place in the hands of Secretary Wallace sweeping powers to deal with the problems of low prices and surplus production. The program has flexibility, empowering Wallace to employ parts or all of several plans, including the Smith cotton method, the principles of the domestic allotment bill, leasing of lands to retire them from production and trade agreements.

Through the cooperative agreements between producers and processors, Wallace is hopeful of accomplishing the purpose of the program. He has conferred with representatives of millers, packers, cotton spinners and others and expressed himself as confident of winning their support.

A processors' tax is the chief source of revenue proposed to provide funds to finance the program. From it payments in the form of rentals or benefits or both could be paid to farmers in return for agreements to curtail production.

Buy Cotton Options
The Smith option plan would be applicable to cotton planters, its purpose being to buy up supplies of cotton in which the government now has a financial interest and to give growers options on these in return for production cuts. Enhancement of the value of cotton theoretically would benefit the grower and option-holder.

Restoration of farm prices to the 1909-1914 pre-war level is the goal. If and when that goal was attained the plan would go out of operation. The processors' tax if levied in the maximum amount would be in an amount equal to the difference between the pre-war level and current market prices.

The President asserted that the measure "offers great promise of good results," adding:

"I tell you frankly that it is a new and untrod path, but I tell you with equal frankness that an unprecedented condition calls for a new means to rescue agriculture."

"If a fair administrative trial of it is made and it does not produce the hoped for results I shall be the first to acknowledge it and advise you," he said.

PROFIT-TAKING SLOWS ADVANCE OF SECURITIES

Wheat Loses Much Of An Early Advance Of Three Cents

New York, March 17—(AP)—Trading in the country's security and commodity markets was comparatively quiet today after the exertions of Wednesday and Thursday.

Stocks profited after an early flurry of profit-taking. Some shares converted losses into moderate gains, but the recovery was rather irregular and there was little activity.

Grains at Chicago were higher at the opening, though wheat lost much of its initial advance, which had ranged from about a cent and a half to three cents a bushel. New York cotton prices were moderately lower, with trading quiet.

Railroad shares began to work upward after noon and their firmness checked declines elsewhere. New York Central, Delaware & Hudson, Santa Fe and Union Pacific either fully recovered losses of $1 to $2 or exchanged them, for gains of similar proportions. American Telephone cut in half a decline of more than $2, while United States Steel common retrieved a loss of $1.37. Declines of $1 to $2 in American Tobacco B, Westinghouse, Consolidated Gas and Allied Chemical were substantially pared.

Money charges dropped. Two cuts were made in bankers' acceptances while call loans on the New York Stock Exchange, after renewing at 4 per cent, went to 3 1/2.

Dollars strengthened in the foreign exchange market, especially against the French franc.

Former Dixon Man Died In California

(Telegraph Special Service)
Oregon, March 17—Mrs. William DeLohe of Oregon received word of the passing of her brother Charles V. Kersch of Santa Ana, Cal., his death occurring Wednesday, Mar. 15 after an illness of three years duration. Funeral services were to be held this afternoon with interment at Santa Ana.

Mr. Kersch was a resident of Dixon for several years where he held the office of county surveyor and city engineer. In 1900 he moved to California and served as city engineer there until 1927 when he retired from active life. He enjoyed a wide acquaintance during his residence in Dixon and vicinity, all of whom will regret to learn of his decease.

Hoover In Chicago On His Trip West

Chicago, March 17—(AP)—Herbert Hoover and his secretary, Lawrence Richey, arrived from New York for a brief visit here today, leaving their train at the Englewood station.

The former President was met by Arch M. Shaw, publisher and economist, and the party immediately was driven to the Shaw home in Winnetka where Mr. Hoover was to be a guest today and tomorrow.

Mr. Hoover smilingly declined to discuss economic questions with the few questioners who had gathered at the south Side station to greet him.

Cermak's Will To Be Filed Saturday

Chicago, Mar. 17—(AP)—The will of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak will be filed for probate tomorrow by Attorney General Otto Kern. It is understood that the instrument will distribute an estate of between $250,000 and $300,000, most of which is in real estate.

Bulk of the estate, it is understood, will be left to Cermak's three daughters and other relatives, with numerous bequests to charitable groups. State Senator Richey V. Graham, the late Mayor's son-in-law, will be designated as Administrator, it is reported.

Pioneer Aviator Dead At Lincoln

Lincoln Neb. Mar. 17—(AP)—Ray Page, a pioneer in the aviation industry here and in whose school Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh learned to fly, died at his home at Lincoln this morning after a long illness.

He formerly owned the Lincoln Aircraft Company which he sold in 1923 because of ill health. Since his retirement from business he devoted much of his time to greyhound racing.

Find Rockfordite Guilty Of Murder

Rockford, Ill. March 17—(AP)—Frank Ramsby was convicted in Circuit Court today of the murder of Bertrand Cole, who was his boyhood chum. Ramsby shot Cole to death in his home, near Ramsby's December 27. He was sentenced to one to 14 years in prison.

INCOME TAX COLLECTIONS THIS MONTH $2,000,000 ABOVE 1932

Washington, Mar. 17—(AP)—Income tax collections for March 15 exceeded the amount collected on March 15 a year ago by approximately $1,119,000.

In making public these figures today, the Treasury said also that the collections for this month thus far were approximately $2,000,000 more than for the same number of days last March.

CONFERENCE ON BEER BILL MAY BE NECESSARY

House Committee Has Decided To Seek Such Conference

BULLETIN
Washington, March 17—(AP)—Determined to get the beer legislation to the President for signature by Monday, House Democratic leaders forced quick consideration today of the amendments tacked onto the bill by the Senate, with a view to getting an adjustment of the differences in conference with the other branch.

Senator Harrison (D. Miss.) predicted today "the bill will be signed by Monday night," assuring sale of the brew by April 4.

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Beer of at least 3.05 per cent alcohol by volume April 4 was in prospect today as House leaders discussed what to do about amendments the Senate inserted in the beer-wine-revenue bill before passing it last night.

Some Democrats responsible for what the House does had said they would insist upon allowing 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight instead of the 3.05 the Senate approved, and added they thought, too, that wine had no place in the measure.

One of these was Representative McCormick (D. Mass.) which had carried off the beer bill when it went through the House.

"I will use every bit of my influence to oppose those Senate amendments," he told newspapermen.

Speaker Rainey and Democratic Floor Leader Byrns reserved public expressions of their views until they could confer. President Roosevelt's attitude also was asked.

Senate In Recess
The leaders knew that if they rejected the Senate amendments the measure could not be finally passed until Monday because of the parliamentary necessity of asking a conference with the Senate.

branch could not agree to conference today because it was in recess over the week-end.

The bill was pushed so near final passage by what constitutes almost a minimum of time for the Senate on such a question. It debated the measure only six hours before a roll call vote, cutting across party lines passed it 43 to 30.

That debate brought, besides the percentage and wine inclusion amendments, changes prohibiting the sale of the new beverages to persons under 16 years of age.

Difference One Drop
Senator Tyding placed the difference between the Senate and House beer bills in alcohol percentage at "just a drop."

The Senate measure authorizes beer of 3.05 and the House measure 3.2 per cent.

"I've figured it out," the Marylander told reporters, "and it means that the Senate beer would contain one drop less of alcohol in a total volume of 666 and 2/3 drops."

Annual Meeting Of Golf Club Is Held

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Plum Hollow Golf Club was held this week. The meeting was largely attended and a great deal of enthusiasm was demonstrated on the outlook for the coming season. The reports submitted indicated that the club is in a healthy financial condition and many improvements which have been made during the past two years have placed the course in an excellent condition.

It was agreed to materially reduce the dues and green fees for the next season in order that players may avail themselves of the opportunity of enjoying their favorite pastime.

New directors were elected and the following is the personnel of the board for 1933: H. E. Senneff, president; Harry Stepha, vice president; Ralph Salzman, secretary and treasurer. The remaining directors are Edwin S. Rosecrans, Joe Villiger, R. W. Clark and Geo. Netts.

Assessor Will Go To Peoria In Bus

Assessors of Lee county will make the trip to Peoria and return next Tuesday a special chartered bus which will leave the east side of the county house at 6:30 in the morning.

County Treasurer S. D. Schrock, who was named by the Board of Supervisors to assume the management of the trip, was today urging the Assessor of every township in the county to attend the Illinois tax Commission meeting in Peoria on that date.

Leaving Dixon the bus will follow state highway, route 89, making a stop at the Halligan service station at the junction with the Walton spur where several a motor and van the party. The County Treasurer and Mark Smith of this city and Joseph Roessler of Ashton, the latter members of the Board of Review will accompany the Assessors to the meeting.

Federal Reserve Still Silent Regarding Terminating Banks' Holiday And Cause Of Delay

State Auditor Allows Twenty State Banks To Reopen Today

Early this afternoon officers of both Dixon banks had received no instructions from the Federal Reserve bank in Chicago regarding termination of the banking holiday in this city, which started two weeks ago tomorrow morning. Inquiry by The Associated Press in Chicago brought word that the Federal Reserve had no announcement of opening of member banks, and that no comment was available from the Reserve Bank as to when such announcement might come or as to the reason for the delay in permitting openings.

TO AID STATE BANKS
Washington, March 17—(AP)—Chairman Steagall of the House Banking committee today told newspapermen he expected an amendment to the emergency beer-wine measure, extending its benefits to state banks that are not members of the Federal Reserve system, to pass the House before adjournment this afternoon.

Steagall called a meeting of the House Banking committee and said he expected a favorable report on the measure without delay.

"I think it will get through before we quit today," he said. "There is no opposition to it. The President, Secretary Woodin and Senator Glass (D. Va.) all approve it. I may ask unanimous consent to get it through. If not we can get a rule which will do the work."

The Senate has already passed a measure sponsored by Senator Robinson (D. Ark.) extending to state banks that are not members of the Federal Reserve System the privilege of borrowing directly from Federal Reserve on security hitherto not eligible.

20 STATE BANKS OPEN
Chicago, March 17—(AP)—The holiday ban was lifted from 20 more state banks in Illinois today as State Auditor Edward J. Barrett gave them permission to open for unrestricted business this morning.

Today's openings brought the total number of state banks in operation in Illinois to approximately 30. In Chicago, financial experts said, bank deposits had increased approximately $185,000,000 since Monday.

Following is the list permitted to reopen today by Barrett: Montgomery County Loan & Trust Company of Hillsboro; Bank of Mascoutah; Cicero State Bank; Wheaton Trust & Savings Bank; Aurora State Bank of Oak Park; First Trust & Savings Bank of Sycamore; C. P. Burnett & Sons of Elmhurst; El Dara State Bank, Exchange State Bank of Briffid; Murphysboro Savings Bank, State Bank of Burlington, Onarga State Bank, Paloma Exchange Bank, Farmers' Bank of Liberty, First State Bank of Chester, Mead, Condit & Grout of Winchester, Royal State Bank, Farmers' State Bank of Minier, Clarence State Bank, and Holcomb State Bank.

PRESIDENT TO GET "ECONOMY" ACT ON MONDAY

Congressional Action Completed Yesterday In House

BULLETIN
Washington, March 17—(AP)—Speaker Rainey today signed the Roosevelt $500,000 economy bill. It will have to be signed by Vice President Garner before it goes to the White House, probably Monday.

Washington, March 17—(AP)—President Roosevelt on Monday will have a chance to sign a bill giving him just about the broadest power Congress ever conferred upon an executive—power to lop half a billion dollars off federal expenditures.

It is embodied in the bill "to maintain the credit of the United States government," the economy bill that hurdled through the House yesterday upon a 373 to 19 majority.

The initial steps this session in the new President's budget-balancing program, it gives him the authority, only slightly limited, to reduce veterans costs, federal salaries, and other expenditures.

When the House adopted Senate amendments by the huge majority, Presidential approval was expected to make it law before night. But the Senate recessed until Monday, too quickly for Vice President Garner to affix his necessary signature. Nor did Speaker Rainey sign yesterday, but he could do that today because the House was called to meet as usual.

Many Votes Changed
Final enactment by the House found many members changing the positions they took when the economy bill first passed that branch. The vote then was 266 to 138 against yesterday's 373 to 19. Leaders attributed the switches to demands by constituents for support of the President in his plan to balance the budget by economies, reorganization and the legalization and taxation of beer.

President Roosevelt submitted the program to Congress last Friday in a special message. It was passed by the House Saturday.

The five amendments put in the bill were accepted by the House, after word came from the White House that they were acceptable to President Roosevelt.

The Senate adopted five amendments. One would permit no interference in veterans suits, and another would leave to the discretion of the President whether to make hospitalization available to non-service-connected disabilities.

Can Change Rates
A third forbade removal from the rolls of any veterans of direct service connected disabilities, but permitting changes in the rates; the fourth permitted no Spanish-American veteran over 62 years old to be removed from the rolls, although allowing for a change in the rates; and the fifth provided domiciliary care for tuberculosis of neuropsychiatric veterans not traceable to war services.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, estimated the maximum cut in reductions would not exceed $10,000,000, which would still leave economies that might be effected at more than $500,000,000.

SALE OF BEER IN DIXON IS LAWFUL UNDER CITY LAW

City Has No Ordinance Governing Sale Of Legal Lager

In the event that the much talked-of beer bill becomes a reality as is the prospect places of business in Dixon will be compelled to adhere to strict regulations, Mayor George Dixon stated this morning in an interview. Referring to the licensing of wholesale or retail places of business handling beer within the city, the Mayor spoke in favor of a fair license fee but was not in accord with the maximum amount as provided under the law.

In any event he maintained that strict supervision would be maintained in either instance of whole-sale or retail establishments by the city. Referring to the possibilities for the passage of an ordinance by the city conforming to the state and national laws, Mayor Dixon had the following statement to make:

"If Congress, as indicated, amends the Volstead Act to declare beer and wine non-intoxicating, sales of those beverages in the City of Dixon will not be unlawful under the present condition of our ordinances until the Council passes an ordinance on the subject, because our last ordinance, passed by the council in 1921, was passed pursuant to authority granted by the Illinois Prohibition Act, which has just been repealed by the Illinois Legislature, and the ordinance, by its terms, repealed the previous ordinance of the city, passed many years before, which is not revived by the last ordinance being rendered ineffective. The Local Option law under which Dixon township became dry territory has been held by the courts to have been repealed by the Illinois Prohibition Act, so the previous action by which Dixon township became dry territory is rendered ineffective. Therefore, until the council passes an ordinance regulating sales of beer and wine and granting licenses authorizing such sales, thereby controlling such acts, no prosecution for city officials after the Act of Congress becomes effective, legalizing the sale of wine and beer. The new ordinance can also apply to and prohibit the sales of liquors designated as intoxicating by Act of Congress. The extent of authority of the council will be governed by the new liquor control statute which is pending and will probably be passed soon by the Illinois legislature. Until its provisions are definitely settled the council cannot safely pass an ordinance on the subject. There is no ordinance now in force in Dixon prohibiting or regulating the manufacture or sale of any intoxicating liquors."

STATE TO GET SHARE
Springfield, Ill. Mar. 17—(AP)—The state of Illinois plans to get its share of whatever revenue can be obtained from the sale of beer. This was made plain today by Governor Horner when he said that the liquor regulatory measures passed by the state Senate, and now in committee in the House, did not meet the situation. The measure passed by the Senate is strictly a licensing act, with the fee for the license going to the city, town, village, or county issuing the license.

The Governor said he planned to ask that the measure be amended so as to provide for a state license and also a tax on the manufacturer.

Five Taxes, At Least
If the Governor's program prevails beer sold in Illinois will be subject to the following taxation, federal, state sales tax, manufacturers' tax, state license tax, and local license tax.

Under the Governor's plan the state would receive the proceeds of three taxes—sales, license, and manufacturers' with the remainder of the tax assessed going to the federal government and the local taxing body.

The Governor also wants the old local option laws repealed so that any community which desired to prohibit the sale of liquor can do so.

"Any community that desires to prohibit the sale of liquor should be given that right," the Governor said.

Is Not Satisfied
The Governor is not satisfied with the regulations contained in the Senate bill.

He said strict supervision must be exercised as to the class of individuals to whom licenses to sell beer are issued.

It was indicated that numerous amendments to the Senate regulatory measure will be offered the House at the suggestion of the Governor.

The Senate has also passed a bill regulating the sale of "hard" liquors.

MRS. FRED DOTY OF AMBOY DIED DURING NIGHT

Was One Of the First Children Born In That Township

(Telegraph Special Service.)
Amboy, March 17—Mrs. Fannie Bridgeman Doty, one of the first children to be born in Amboy township and daughter of Cyrus and Mary Holmes Bridgeman, who were among the early pioneers of Amboy, passed away about midnight last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wallace B. Vaughan, Mrs. Doty suffered a stroke about two years ago which left her bedridden, and this was followed by another stroke Thursday morning from which she failed to recover.

Mrs. Doty was born in Amboy township, May 28, 1851, at what is known as Union Corners, the home later being removed to make way for the Illinois Central right-of-way, which was built where the home stood a few years later. She was united in marriage to Fred R. Doty, roadmaster of the Illinois Central and with the exception of a few years of her life or more than 81 years, made her home in Amboy. Her parents, husband and one son James, have preceded her in death, and she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Helen Vaughan and one son, F. L. Doty, both of Amboy.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Sunday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Earl M. Edwards, pastor of the Amboy Methodist church officiating and with interment in Prairie Repose cemetery.

WILL ASK GOVT. TO UNLOCK MANY CLOSED PLACES
Illinois Congressman Wants Former Beer Rooms Unlocked

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Rep. Everett M. Dirksen (R. Ill.) said today he would ask the Attorney General of the United States to lift all injunctions against places closed by the Federal government for selling beer.

Dirksen said many of the places closed were club rooms of fraternal organizations. He said it would be unjust to keep them under padlock in view of passage of the beer bill.

He also said the Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol had ordered E. C. Yellowley, Supervisor of Permits for the Chicago district, to proceed to Peoria immediately "to explain to independent oil dealers a tangled situation growing out of the alcohol-gasoline blending movement."

The situation developed, Dirksen said, from Commissioner James Doran of Washington giving permission to Illinois farmers to draw one carload of industrial alcohol from a government warehouse to be used in blending with gasoline for sale through cooperative filling stations.

By error, Doran said, the farmers were given permission to withdraw 50 carloads and Illinois independent oil dealers emphatically protested against the farmers being granted such large quantities when the dealers were refused permits.

Dirksen said Doran granted the permit to the farmers for purely experimental purposes, and instructed Yellowley to make the point clear to Peoria dealers.

No Closing Regulations
No action was taken by the board in the regulation of the hours to be observed on the days of closing, the resolution which was unanimously adopted being in conformity to the proposed state law which regulates places of business in which malt beverages are sold.

While the board had been in session a short time each day for four days with the transaction of very little business, the final session yesterday afternoon developed into an economy meeting.

Supervisor L. D. Hemenway of Alto township told the board that in his opinion several hundred dollars and possibly thousands could be saved Lee County by the adoption of a uniform plan of purchasing supplies for the various county offices. He suggested the anticipation of the needs of each county department in advance to be submitted to the purchasing committee of the county board.

Co. Purchasing Agent
It developed that about ten years ago County Clerk Fred G. Dimick was selected County Purchasing Agent through the adoption of a resolution presented to the county board.

Supervisor Walter Ortgiesen of South Dixon moved the rescinding of that action which was acted favorably upon by the board members. Supervisor Hemenway then presented his plan making the purchasing committee responsible for the purchase of county supplies and urging that each of the county department anticipate their needs in advance.

Some of the members of the board stated that for several years attorneys of the county have made a practice of supplying themselves with certain legal blanks from the county house offices at the expense of the county and it was suggested that this practice be stopped. The new arrangement, whereby the purchasing committee assumes charge of county purchases becomes effective June 1. It was the opinion of the board members that after June 1 the various townships of the county be required to purchase election supplies instead of the county standing this expense which is another practice of long (Continued on Page 2)

COUNTY BOARD FIXES LICENSE ON BEER SALES

Claim Of Franklin Woman Denied; Some Other Business

Owners and proprietors of road houses throughout Lee county who sell the new 3.05 per cent beer, should the bill become a law, will be required to pay the maximum license fee in Lee county. This was decided at the final session of the Board of Supervisors which closed yesterday afternoon after giving long consideration to the subject.

All the way from Washington, D. C. to Lee county we have been told that this beer bill has been drafted for the sole purpose of making money, and Lee county might just as well get in line and profit by it as the state law provides. Chairman Gilbert Finch told the board when the discussion of license fees was taken up. The board recessed for 15 minutes after the proposed Illinois malt beverages law had been read and explained, to permit the judiciary committee to bring in a recommendation.

It was explained that the proposed beer legislation might become a law within a short time and before the next meeting of the Board of Supervisors in June which would be a late date for those desiring to secure licenses, and for this reason the subject was turned back to the Judiciary committee with instructions to present a report before the close of the March session.

License $200 Per Year
By the provision of the resolution which was unanimously adopted by the board, proprietors or owners of road house outside incorporated cities and villages throughout the county will pay an annual license of not to exceed $200. This license covers the operation of places where the malt beverage may be sold for consumption on the premises and is termed a Class A license. Provision was made for places throughout the county where beer might be sold in case lots, where an annual fee of $25 is required. In either instance the applicant will be required to file his application for such license with the County Clerk, together with a bond in the sum of $1,000. In addition he will be obliged to sign a certificate showing the date and place of birth, together with the fact that he has never been convicted of a felony, before his application will be considered.

The application will then be submitted to the chairman of the Board of Supervisors who will confer with the Supervisor of the township in which the proposed place of business is to be located. With the approval of the chairman of the county board and the Council, the license may be issued, the fee to be paid in advance. The licenses will expire January 1 of each year. While the members of the board were discussing the regulation of such road houses, the hours to be observed and whether they would be permitted to remain open on Sundays and holidays, Assistant Supervisors James Buckley of Dixon asked the question:

"How about licensing the bootleggers of Lee County at the same time?"

No action was taken by the board in the regulation of the hours to be observed on the days of closing, the resolution which was unanimously adopted being in conformity to the proposed state law which regulates places of business in which malt beverages are sold.

ASSEMBLY IN RECESS UNTIL
FIRST OF WEEKPassage Of Sales Tax
Main Business Of Current Week

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 17—(AP)—With one of its most important pieces of legislation—the three per cent sales tax—safely through both houses, the Illinois General Assembly was in recess today for the week-end.
The week-end saw the passage of the state tax with only a vote to spare during a hectic roll call in the House. Yesterday the Senate approved the amendments added to its original measure in the House and within a few days the bill will be laid before Governor Horner for his signature.
Before winding up its week's work yesterday the House passed a couple of bills and sent them on to the Senate. One provided for the appointment after September, 1936, of county surveyors by county boards. At present surveyors are elected. The other bill provided for the submission of petitions bearing names of only 100 instead of one-fifth of voters by counties seeking to abolish township organizations.

Washington, March 17—(AP)—A 16-year-old boy who tampered with a switch was blamed today by the safety bureau of the Interstate Commerce Commission for the derailment of a Wabash railway passenger train at Jacksonville, Ill., last December in which two persons were killed and eight injured.
The boy, Director W. P. Borland said, admitted having tampered with the switch. His name was not disclosed.

Immunity Act Is Off Statute Book

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 17—(AP)—Governor Henry Horner today signed the bill to repeal the quo warrantum immunity act.
The act, exempting state officials from action against them during their terms in office was passed in former Governor Small's administration, about the time the civil suits were under trial. Governor Horner had made a campaign promise to wipe it off the statute books and also made it part of his inaugural address.

COUNTY BOARD
FIXES LICENSE
ON BEER SALES

standing, it developed.
Cut Printing Bills
The printing committee went on a rampage against printing bills for the various county departments, slashing many bills 20 per cent. This not only effected Lee county printers but the slash was carried on to office supply firms which for years have been doing a thriving business in Lee county through the sale of records and supplies to the various county departments. The entire board concurred in the reductions recommended by the printing committee.
County Superintendent of Highways Fred Leake requested the board to order the payment by him of two sums amounting to $730.00 and $49.52 into the County Treasury as soon as banking conditions will permit, which was provided for.
The purchasing committee was empowered to purchase a car load of coal for use at the court house where the supply is insufficient to serve through the season. The committee recommended the expenditure of the sum not in excess of $130 for the purchase of legal records for the office of State Attorney Edward Jones. The same committee recommended that a sum of $91 be expended for the purchase of a new typewriter in the County Recorder's office was approved.

Mother's Pension Fund

The finance committee reported that there were insufficient funds in the mother's pension fund with which to pay claims until the June meeting and recommended an appropriation from the general fund of a sum amounting to $3,500 to be used for this purpose. The board voted unanimously to appropriate the sum.

A difference of opinion of certain members of the board was evident when the road and bridge committee presented their report and recommendation in the claim filed by Mrs. Maud Spratt and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Brucker, of Franklin Grove for damages claimed in the death of John Spratt, husband and father on Dec. 20. It will be recalled that Mr. Spratt met his death when the Crosby Lane bridge over Franklin creek west of Franklin Grove collapsed and a claim amounting to approximately $10,000 was filed with the board the first of the week.

Deny Spratt Claim

The report of the committee contained the sympathies of that body extended to the bereaved wife and daughter, and then concluded by stating that in the opinion of the road and bridge committee Lee county was in no wise responsible for the death of John Spratt, and that no omission or neglect could be found on the part of the county. The committee report concluded by denying the claim and the responsibility for the death. Supervisor Kugler of Harmon presented the motion that the report be received, approved and filed, which drew a second from Supervisor Fassig of Brooklyn. Supervisor Leon Hart of Palmyra called for a roll call vote. Six members of the board opposed the action of the road and bridge committee as follows: Burhenn of Bradford; Ramsdell of China; Buckley of Dixon; Anderson of East Grove; Klegwin of Hamilton and Spangler of Nachusa. With one member of the board absent, the report was adopted by a vote of 19 to 6.

Change Polling Places

Supervisor D. H. Spencer recommended to the board the change in location of two voting precincts in Dixon. Precinct 1 which for several years has been located at the Black Hawk hotel was ordered removed to the office of Selgestad & Son, planning mill on East First street. The third precinct, which until recently was located in the city hall, was changed to the J. L. Glassburn garage.

Year Is Also Favorable

Washington, Mar. 17—(AP)—The United States had a favorable trade balance of $17,000,000 in February, exporting $100,000,000 worth of merchandise and importing $83,000,000 worth.

The balance compared with $24,584,000 in January, when $120,583,000 worth of merchandise was sent abroad and $96,009,000 imported.

For the two months of the present year, the favorable trade balance has amounted to $41,584,000, with exports for $220,583,000 and imports of $179,009,000. In the same period of the 1932 year the favorable trade balance amounted to only $37,474,000.

The United States gained $8,860,000 in gold during February with exports of $21,521,000 and imports of $30,381,000. For the two months of the present year the gold increase has amounted to $137,326,000 with exports of $21,535,000 and imports of $158,861,000. In the similar period of 1932 the United States lost a total of $163,518,000.

Foreman Of Grand Jury Complimentary

Springfield, Ill., March 17—(AP)—Former Lt. Gov. John G. Oglesby foreman of a federal grand jury complimented the jurors in court today, on their "industry and efficiency fused with good sense," and reported to Federal Judge Briggie the unanimous decision of the jury that "interests of the people of the southern district are well protected by your presence on the bench."

Twelve indictments were returned and six suppressed until arrests are made. William P. Kuhl, former cashier of the Lincoln National Bank at Lincoln, was indicted on six counts for embezzlements totalling approximately $3,500. Kuhl implicated himself several months ago, in testifying in the trial of a teller of the bank, by admitting that he didn't know how much he had taken.

THE WAY WE BEAR OUR CROSS

God keeps us through these somber days.
These days when doubt and fear surmount,
When pessimism clouds our gaze
And naught but self seems worth the count.

Master, stretch our vision far
Keep thou our heart serene
Preserve intact our childhood faith
Upon its precepts, trustful lean.

Teach us it matters not the trial
The emptiness of earthly loss,
But all worthwhile is just the way
We bear our cross.

Unity Guild With Mrs. C. H. Stackpole

The Unity Guild members met in a very pleasant all day meeting, Thursday with Mrs. Stackpole. Four were present to enjoy the tempting dinner at noon. They were then occupied in piecing blocks for a quilt and finishing another quilt. Much work has been done for welfare work this winter by the Guild. A business meeting was held and report given of the quilt project in a needy family.

Every one was given timely clippings to read, and several longer articles of much interest read. A lovely memorial was given by Mrs. A. G. Burnham and Mrs. L. W. Miller for three deceased members, Mrs. Etta Demorest, Mrs. Lucy Hartwell and Mrs. Erma Hey, and are so much missed at the meetings. The little band has smaller grown in the past three years.

Such is life's pathway,
A few short years, at most,
True friends, a vision, and a hope
For the larger realm of growth.

This closed a very interesting program and beautiful memorial tribute. The April meeting will be held with Mrs. Allwood.

Wedding Anniversary Today for Roosevelts

Washington, March 17—(AP)—A family party with just a few old friends was the program with which the President and First Lady today marked their twenty-eighth wedding anniversary.

The Franklin Delano Roosevelts had no intention of throwing aside even for this occasion the simplicity and informality they took to the White House. Few were the guests invited to dinner tonight. And among these were several who took part in that New York wedding 28 years ago.

Hasselman-Kitz-miller Wedding

Theodore Hasselman and Bernice Kitzmiller, both of Peoria, were united in wedlock at the parsonage of the Immanuel Lutheran church yesterday, March 16th by the pastor, Rev. A. G. Suechting. They were attended by Harold Selovey and Alfreda Jackson. Friends extend best wishes to the couple.

ORGANDY FASHIONS NEW EVENING GOWN—

Popular Young Couple Are Wed

The marriage of a popular young couple is of interest to many Dixon friends, that of Homer W. Scott, of Dixon, and Miss Dorothy Green, of Crossville, White county, Ill.

The marriage took place on Monday, Feb. 20th, 1933 in Princeton, Ill., with Rev. F. W. Hoxington, pastor of the Methodist church of that city officiating.

Miss Marion Kennedy and Edward Reardon of Nelson, attended them. Mrs. Scott has been employed in the offices of the I. N. U. Co. of Dixon and Mr. Scott has been an employee of a grocery firm in this city. Many friends unite in congratulations.

March Meeting Riverside P.T.A. Enjoyed

At the March meeting of the Riverside P. T. A., the meeting was called to order by the president and all joined in the opening song. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and the state president's message was read at this time. An election of officers was held at this meeting and presided over chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. Jesse Gray. The newly elected officers are:

President—Mrs. Joseph Bieschke
Vice president—Mrs. L. Guntle
Treasurer—Mrs. Florence Floto.
The present secretary, Mrs. Elmer Whitney, is holding over for another year.

The school children in their interesting way gave several numbers. Among their numbers was a good evening song to their parents and friends. At this time the leaders of this meeting took charge—Elmer Whitney and Lloyd Floto. The topic for discussion was "Character Education," and was well discussed and many good thoughts left for those present to think over, by L. W. Miller, Superintendent of Schools of Lee county. This was not the first time Mr. Miller has met with the P. T. A., as it was indeed a pleasure to have him with them again.

Other numbers given during the evening were readings by Will Morris, Leonard Stevens, Dorothy Ryan and a vocal solo by Tom McWethy. The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served.

It was another one of those delightful and profitable evenings come to a close. Refreshments were served. The mothers' study group will meet on Friday afternoon, March 24, at the schoolhouse.

Shorter Stalks of Asparagus Are Tender

Springfield, Ill. Mar. 17—(AP)—Housewives in Illinois will buy shorter asparagus this year.

Principal growers of that crop in Madison, Jersey, Pulaski, Union LaSalle and Cook counties have been invited to a conference here Monday to consider the changing style in taste, which Walter W. McLaughlin of the Department of Agriculture has discovered, is affecting the market.

Chiefly, the growers will discuss the question of revising grade 'A' specifications to cut the length of asparagus stalks from 8 1-2 inches to 7 1-2 inches.

Experience has shown, the Director said, that the longer length produces some white stalk which is not pleasing to the housewife.

On Answering The Questions of Robert

By Dr. S. J. Crumrine,
General Executive, American Child Health Ass'n, 450 Seventh Ave. N. Y.

One day this week I had an S. O. S. from Mrs. May who runs the nursery school which Robert Johnson attends. One of the little girls had cut herself rather badly on a piece of broken glass and Mrs. May wanted me to come over and see her. So, of course, I went at once. Fortunately the wound was not very serious and I soon had the little girl bandaged up and smiling again.

After she had run off to her companions and while I was chatting with Mrs. May, Robert Johnson came over to us. Now Mrs. May trains the children always to be polite, so the little fellow did not attempt to interrupt our conversation but simply hovered around us. At last Mrs. May took pity on him.

"What is it, Robert?" she asked, and then turning to me added, "You know Robert, don't you Doctor?" "Indeed I do," I replied.

"How are you, young man?" "Fine thank you," said Robert, and then with a rush, "what are you doing here?" "I came to see Margery," I replied. "She cut her hand and I had to bandage it for her." Robert's eyes grew big. "What is that?" he said. "Bandage? That means I had to tie it up for her." Robert was still not satisfied. "What for?" he demanded. "So that her hand would keep clean and not get any germs in it," I said. There was a pause and then Robert continued his inquisition. "What's germs?"

"Little creatures that live in dust and dirt, and if they got into her hurt hand they would make it worse—so she has to keep it covered up," Robert fidgeted with the building block he was holding, and then looked up with a beaming smile. "Why does she have to keep it covered up?" he said. "I heard Mrs. May give a sign of resignation. 'I told you why, Robert,' I said, 'so see if you can remember. And look—Jimmie there is waiting for you to play with him. Run along.' And off trotted Robert."

Mrs. May turned to me with a smile. "Doctor," she said, "I am rather surprised at you. I thought children's questions had to be answered these days encouraging a desire for knowledge, stimulating healthy curiosity, and all that. I try to answer them all—and it keeps me busy, I must say."

I smiled in return. "Legitimate questions, yet," I replied. "That is why I answered Robert's first one so carefully. He was really curious, and justifiably so. But his last question was not based on real curiosity. He just wanted to go on talking and to keep us talking to him. He's like most small boys—and girls too; he likes to be the center of attraction, and if rambling questions will do it, he will keep on asking them. And that's what he was starting in to do."

"So you distracted his attention by sending him to play with little Jimmie. I see," said Mrs. May. "Exactly," said I. "I am all for satisfying a child's curiosity and desire for knowledge when it's genuine, but not for being victimized."

"I see what you mean, Doctor," said Mrs. May. "Well, from now on I am going to be a little more discriminating. If I think a youngster is really interested I will answer his questions, or show him how to find the answer for himself. But if I think he is just talking for the sake of talking—I am going to be a bit hard boiled."

MYSTERIES IN THE ROUGH.

Some inquiring reporter not long ago went to interview S. S. Van Dine, the well-known creator of Philo Vance, on the subject, "How do you write detective stories?" And Mr. Van Dine said a number of interesting things, but he also voiced a theory which strikes at least one devotee of detective stories as a profoundly pernicious heresy. He said, in effect, that the big thing is to get a puzzling plot; characterization, style and so on are secondary considerations, and if you have a good puzzle your story will be a good one.

As a matter of fact, the chief trouble with most detective stories nowadays is that they have good puzzles and nothing else. Because their writers can't depict characters, make dialog sound natural or put their thoughts in a decent style the stories fail to be convincing—and that, in a mystery story, is the one unpardonable error. If mystery story writers paid a little more attention to such matters we would get better thrillers.

FIGHTING DISEASE.

The value of work done by public health authorities is strikingly shown in a report recently issued by New York state's health commissioner, showing that during the last five years that state has had 100,000 fewer cases of typhoid fever, and 10,000 fewer deaths from the disease, than it would have had if the 1906 typhoid rates had prevailed.

Credit for the improvement goes chiefly to better public health work, especially as it relates to water supplies.

A higher tribute to the efficacy of public health work would be hard to find. When you consider that most other states could duplicate New York's record on a proportional basis, and that the fight against many other diseases is proceeding with equal success, you get a graphic picture of the valuable work the various public health services are doing.

WISCONSIN'S WEASELS.

Wisconsin has been famous for years as the Badger State. But Earl W. Tinker, federal forester in Wisconsin, believes that the title ought to be Weasel State instead.

Rangers in the three federal forests in Wisconsin recently finished an animal census. This showed the presence of only 100 badgers; but there were no fewer than 7300 weasels—a number greater than that registered by any other species of wild animal.

Whether Wisconsin proposes to do anything about this, and whether it makes any particular difference anyway, isn't quite clear. But in an era filled with vast problems and with news developments of stupendous importance, this bit of information is somehow rather entertaining.

WHAT STUDENTS READ.

Everybody is more or less familiar with the flip and irreverent type of magazine that college undergraduates often publish. Frequently such magazines get more than a little sexy, and every so often the editor of one of them gets tossed out of college for his pains; and the result is a general impression that the ordinary campus is a fertile field for the slightly shady publication.

But George Kaufman, a student at Ohio State University, recently tried the experiment of putting a highbrow magazine on the campus—a little publication devoted to light essays, serious book reviews and intellectual comment on things in general. And he has found that it is succeeding. The campus likes it and is supporting it.

Unless the poorer farming districts of this country have aid soon, by means of a federal tax or otherwise, from the richer urban and industrial centers, our rural school system will collapse.—William J. Cooper, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

We may as well determine right here and now that we are going to wage relentless war until we abolish involuntary idleness as surely as we abolished involuntary servitude.—Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York.

There are millions of acres in this country on which men could go to work and do something only they won't do it.—The Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Gailor, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Tennessee.

Italy's industry has found tranquility in discipline that is indispensable for productive activity.—Senator Giovanni Agnelli of Italy.

A considerable percentage of youth in urban America are at this moment potential racketeers.—Professor Harold Rugg of Columbia University.

I am conceited, cocky, aggressive—perhaps over-aggressive—make many enemies, and love to ballyhoo.—Ely Culbertson, bridge expert.

The modernization of Turkish women was effected peacefully, except, of course, for private family quarrels.—President Mustapha Kemal of Turkey.

Calling an act of aggression self-defense does not make it so.—Dr. George H. Blakeslee of Clark University.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The honey bees were working fast. "Gee, how long will that honey last that's coming from that little flower?" asked Duncy with a smile.

"It seems you've filled up good galore. I wouldn't think there'd be much more." A little bee then said, "We will use a new flower, after while."

The bunch then heard the tail flower shout, "I have given all my honey out. You will have to find the new flower right away. I have done my share."

And so the wee bees looked all around. Soon Coppy cried, "Hey, I have found the very flower you're looking for. It is swaying in the air."

The blossom he was speaking of exclaimed, "Oh, my! I would just love to fill your hods with honey. All you bees form in a line."

And so more hods were shortly filled and not a single drop was spilled. Soon all the hods were full and Mister Bumblebee said, "Fine!"

PRENTISS BAILEY, PUBLISHER OF THE UTICA (N. Y.) OBSERVER-DISPATCH, SAYS:

THAT a great deal of our present day crime is due to our lawyers. Shocked? Yes, of course you are. It's easy for one class to point their fingers at another class and say, "They did it!" But analyzing the matter down to a conclusion, isn't this the situation?

Crime is decreased by certainty of punishment. Countries which have swift and sure punishment have few major crimes. Why does not America have swift and sure punishment?

Two reasons: Corruption of public officials and legal delays. The former can only be corrected at the polls. The latter can be corrected by the lawyers. The correction will seem to hit their pocket-books, and who wants to have his pocket-book hit? Even seemingly? Consequently we drag along our criminal actions to the apparent benefit of the lawyer's pocket-book.

We arrest a man for a crime and then we have a hearing and then maybe several postponements. Then he is put in jail for awhile. Finally he is brought to trial. Then begins all the tricks of the law to

"It is time to travel to the hive. Let's hurry now, so we will arrive before the day drifts into night. The work must all be done."

"Can we go with you?" Windy said. The bee replied, "Sure! Come ahead. You lads can watch us store the honey. It will be lots of fun."

The hive was quite a sight to see. Said happy Scouty, "Goodness me, I have never seen so big a hive. How do the bees get in?"

"We use a ladder," said one bee "as you will very shortly see. As soon as it is put in place, unload your will begin."

The Tinymites promptly looked around and found the ladder or the ground. It didn't take them long to prop it up against the little door.

Then came a long parade of bees. They climbed up to the hive with ease. The honey in their hods was quickly poured out on the nice, clean floor.

(The Tinymites meet a friendly grubworm in the next story.)

muddle up the case—maybe with expert testimony, insanity pleas, etc.—and the case drags along.

Civil cases are often worse. Referees may take an interminable time to render a decision—sometimes as much as two years and then ask for a re-hearing. The longer a case runs the bigger fee the lawyer seems justified in charging. The nice grand-variety of lawyers whom we respect and with whom we rub elbows daily, is early caught in the system and become so accustomed to it that they hardly realized their responsibility for the laws' delays.

It is said that lawyers have tried to get together in their associations and abolish some of the opportunities for delays, but that lawyers never come to an agreement. WHICH, IF TRUE, IS FURTHER PROOF OF THE TYPE OF MIND WHICH "GUMS UP" LEGAL MACHINERY AND SLOWS IT DOWN.

SAINTS OF THE DARK

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

Years ago, more years than he likes to remember, a little boy had an old blind woman for a friend. He can see her now in thought, as she wended her way along a busy street to sell her little stock of notions. She feels them as she walks along, and there is a heavenly expression on her face, so often seen on the faces of the blind.

At the corner she hesitated, the boy gallantly escorted her across the street, and they became friends. He went to see her in her home, so scantily furnished, and at the sight of her bed he wondered how she kept warm. Often he used to read to her, especially her favorite chapters in the Bible, and he can still see the light in her face as he read.

One day he asked her what she would like to have for Christmas, and she said quietly, "It would be so nice to know the time." She had a clock, but it did not strike, so she could not tell the time. The boy told his pals about it, gathered in solemn conclave. They put their heads together, also their pennies, and bought a tiny striking clock. She was very happy when the "gang" brought the clock and set it on the mantel.

So naturally the boy has had a life-long interest in blind folk, and in what has been done to let light into their lives. He read the life of Louis Braille—a Saint of the Dark—who accidentally put out one eye at the age of three, and soon lost the sight of the other eye. To him, more than to any other, the people of the dark owe the raised type by which they are able to read with their sensitive fingers.

Later, in London, the boy knew Sir Arthur Pearson, one of the most dynamic men he ever met. He, too, was struck down with blindness, but instead of shutting himself up in the dark and brooding over his fate, he became a Greatheart to the dwellers in shadowland. To see him at St. Dunston's was a picture never to be forgotten, and an army of blind soldiers would rise up and call his name blessed.

To triumph over an awful handicap by sheer heroism, and transform it into an inner light—so much the Saints of the Dark have taught me.

It's Gadget Time

Frances Dee

By NEA Service

Hollywood, Cal.—Tricky gadgets make new costumes interesting. Frances Dee, lurching at the Roosevelt with Joel McCrea wore one of the new Sunny Jim belts made of wide patent leather with little pockets on either side of the buckle.

Strolling about Palm Springs, Myrna Loy wore a cowboy checked gingham shirt with blue jeans that tucked into the cutest fancy high boots and a cowboy hat benched with fancy colored leather all stitched like her boots.

Muriel Evans carries her beauty up her sleeve, inside a new gadget concealed in the puff sleeves of her dress. A zipper seam opens the sleeves revealing tiny pockets where powder, lipstick and rouge are kept.

Pay Wray wears a navy blue wide suede belt with a lighter blue outfit, which has a little pocket on the inside of the front where she carries her watch, with the watch hanging outside.

Vivian Tobin, over a black satin evening dress, wears a snappy little ermine cape, very diminutive, with sable scalloping the edges.

Una Merkel, driving down Hollywood Boulevard in her car, wore a little black velvet pancake hat that can be used as a purse, if she wants, for it has a slide fastener just under its edges which, when shut, makes a pouch bag out of the hat.

A BOOK A DAY

Max Miller, whose "I cover the Waterfront" scored a surprising and deserved success, has written another book, "He Went Away for Awhile." It is not in the least like his other book, and it may puzzle some of his readers a trifle; but it seems to me a pretty clear indication that the man is slowly but definitely feeling his way toward a position from which he can give us something solid and enduring.

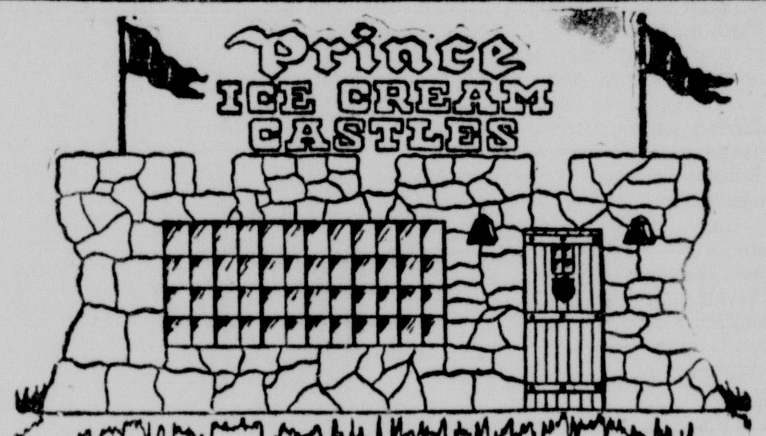

This book is utterly unpretentious. Mr. Miller tells us that he had managed, in his job as reporter, to lay away several hundred dollars; and having done so he quit his job, went to a lonely shack on the edge of the Pacific and began a year of complete solitude and complete inaction.

He didn't go away to write. Nothing happened to him. There were no adventures. He simply lived by himself, revelled in his freedom from daily routine, and, lazy in the sand by the ocean, gave himself up to speculation on the oldest of riddles.

He tried, in fact, to puzzle out why he was on the earth, and what manner of kinship there might be between himself and the sea and the stars and the night wind and the moonlight, and what life was meant to be used for; and although, in the end, he went back to his job as perplexed as when he had left it, he had gained something, after all—and he contrives to get it between the covers of this placid, thoughtful little book.

I doubt if the book will be a "best seller." But a few people are going to like it very much indeed.

Would you not like a box of Nealo. It is the best foot powder on the market.

POLO DEFEATED BY LAKEVIEW'S POWERFUL TEAM

State High School Cagers Reach Semi-finals This Eve

Chicago, March 17—(AP)—Few favorites were missing today as the Illinois high school sectional basketball tournaments reached the semi-final round.

Last night's games produced a little of everything—heart breakers, close scores and big scores. At Carbondale, Galatia accomplished a mild upset in defeating Cairo, 21 to 19, and needed an extra period. The other contest on the same floor went to Benton over Johnston City, 18 to 16, in just the kind of battle expected.

Mattoon romped over Marshall, 32 to 15, at Casey. Lawrenceville, however, was fought to a standstill before eliminating Danville, 23 to 22. Lakeview of Chicago, one of the standouts, easily defeated Polo, 27 to 18 and will meet South Beloit, a newcomer to sectional battle. South Beloit advanced by defeating Savanna, 22 to 17.

Sycamore Wins

Sycamore, another of the high ranking fives, was put to little trouble in eliminating West Aurora, 29 to 13. Kankakee also reached the semi-final round at Joliet, but only after a stirring tussle with Dundee. Kankakee's margin was 27 to 25.

Streator's high powered aggression mowed down Long Point, 38 to 23, while Pontiac took the other decision, 31 to 20, over Thawville. Quincy won high score honors for the evening, defeating New Berlin, 50 to 14, at Decatur. Gillespie did almost as well against tougher opposition, defeating Greenville, 48 to 34, at Salem. East St. Louis defeated a stubborn Flora five, 35 to 23, in the other game at Salem. Springfield, considered a powerful contender, trimmed Hull, 33 to 16, at Decatur.

The second of Peoria's three original starters, Central High, was shoved out of action by Canton's strong team, 20 to 11, at Peoria. Galesburg, showing a lot of defensive strength, defeated Monmouth, 16 to 9, in the second Peoria offering.

DELIGHTFUL DIVERSION—

Ping-Pong must be rated as a minor sport. But what will it be in 1940? Recently 130 ping-pong players competed for the national title at Chicago. Cannonball Jimmy Jacobson of New York slashed his way to the championship. The item was not played up in most sports pages.

But go back to the early days of the century. A New York reporter in 1906 wrote: "Golf in this country has reached a high pitch. Scores of additional players are flocking to the links each year. The game, because of its exclusive appeal, can never approach baseball or some other forms of athletics in its appeal, but it promises to provide a delightful diversion for the wealthy class."

NOW LOOK AT IT—

During the last few years the money spent for golf has exceeded that of any other sport. Ping-pong is relatively cheap. A table can be purchased or made for very little money. The ball costs only a few cents. Golf equipment has come down since 1929. A beginner's set can be bought for $10 (and less than that if the beginner is willing to start with used clubs.)

With balls selling at 25 cents to 75 cents, it was expected that the depression would cause a rush for the two-bit pellets. But most of the clubs report that the 50-cent and 75-cent balls are most popular.

PUBLIC COURSES HIT—

Advices during the winter from the public courses of the south reveal that the 50-cent is the best seller. At private courses they still can dig up the six bits. There was only a moderate drop in the national sale of 75-centers during 1932, but the sales of the 50-center slumped almost a third. That indicates that public courses lost the most customers during the depression.

Most golfers do not go for cheap clubs. They take pride in having matched tools.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Jack Quinn is starting his 30th season in baseball, unless he played a few years on the sly under an alias. A geek named Trosky has been slugging that old apple in the Indians' training camp. Bucky Harris says you are going to see lots of pitching from a young man named Lynwood Rowe this year—he's lots of man anyway, six-four and a half. Floyd Vaughan will be the best shortstop in the National League this year, according to Honus Wagner—he will have to hustle to surpass Bartoli of the Phils, who is right up there with Joe Cronin. Joe Medwick, youthful Cardinal outfielder, adds a new note to baseball bargaining; he retained a manager to present his case to the club.

IRISH IN LEAD AT NOTRE DAME SURVEY REVEALS

999 Sons Of Erin Are Enrolled At South Bend Institution

South Bend, Ind., March 17—(AP)—The "Fighting Irish" of Notre Dame are still Irish—even though they may cheer from the sidelines while the Sheketskis, the Schwartzes and the Cardeos fight their football battles for them.

So said officials of the local university today on the basis of a student survey to determine just how many Irishmen were enrolled.

Results, said the announcement, were most gratifying—showing that 999 sons of Erin were roaming the campus today. And it was St. Patrick's Day, too.

While they flaunted their shamrocks and bits of green today their supremacy, however, was a one day affair only. Extractions of their nationalities have invaded this campus in increasing numbers.

For instance, the survey showed 567 with German blood in their veins. And, furthermore, 289 who trace their ancestry back to England, live and eat daily—and in perfect harmony, too—with their Irish fellow students whose families at sometime or other deserted the old sod.

The survey was conducted by a committee under the direction of the Daily Religious Bulletin of the University of which the Rev. John O'Hara, Prefect of Religion, is the editor.

Other nationalities at Notre Dame, Father O'Hara said, include 199 Slavs, 145 Italians, 84 Frenchmen, 56 Scotchmen, 39 Jews (mostly German), 15 Scandinavians, six Syrians and five Greeks.

As for Hungarians, Dutchmen and Belgians—there may even be a few of them, and others too, show up on next year's football team.

Jeby Favored To Take Vince Dundee

New York, March 17—(AP)—An 8 to 5 favorite, Ben Jeby, east side body puncher, defends his share of the world's middleweight championship against Vince Dundee of Newark in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

A leading contender for several years, Dundee has beaten Jeby twice on decisions, in 1930 and 1931, but the New York youngster has shown such improvement in the last year that he has been made a well-defined betting favorite.

Jeby won New York State recognition as 160-pound champion when he stopped Frankie Battaglia of Winnipeg in the 12th round of a 15-round match here in January. Marcel Tili of France is generally recognized elsewhere as champion.

Bep Van Klaveren, speedy Dutch welterweight, faces Baby Joe Gans of California in the eight round semi-final.

"BUCKY" HARRIS SAYS TIGERS ARE BEST HE'S BOSSSED

Kid Battery From Beaumont Brings Joy To Manager's Heart

By BILL JARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
San Antonio, Tex. Mar. 17—(AP)—A kid battery, inspired by the managerial wisdom and confidence of Bucky Harris, and the offensive and defensive punch of a young infield and outfield, causes Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers to say without qualification this year's team is the finest he ever has managed.

"The Tigers have speed on the bases, speed and punch in the outfield with a balanced infield and a splendid mixture of veterans and youths on the pitching staff," explained Harris, "and believe me I expect them to make trouble for any team nursing any ideas about the American League pennant."

The pitching part of the kid battery will be Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe from Beaumont of the Texas League, where last year he won 19 and lost 7.

Harris has enthroned Rowe as the "king of pitching rookies." He firmly believes this 209 pound right-hander will demolish much of Cleveland's and Philadelphia's batting power and do a fair job of eradication against the Yankees. Rowe has a side-arm curve and fast ball, with a stout heart and zest for pitching.

New Kid Catcher

Frank Reiber, Beaumont catcher last year, is the other half of the kid battery. Harris will carry Reiber on the payroll especially to catch Rowe. Reiber batted 335 last year.

Veteran hurlers who are assured of positions are Thomas Bridges, who pitched an almost perfect game for Detroit last year and finished up with the low earned run average of 3.36; Charles Fisher secured from St. Louis; Fred Marberry, formerly with Washington; Elton Hoggsett, Victor Sorrell, Geo. Uhle and Johnny Wyatt.

Harris will pick one more pitcher from among Orlin Collier, Laddie Goldstein, Arthur Herrin, Luke Hamlin and Francis Nekola, with Nekola favored because he is a southpaw.

Ray Hayworth is expected to retain his first string catching job and Eugene Desautels will be his relief.

First and second bases are not problems. Harry Davis at first and Charlie Gehringer at second form the combination.

Davis, classified by Harris as one of the finest fielders in the American League, is expected to raise his batting average above last year's .269. Gehringer, a great fielder and consistent hitter, is the pillar of the infield.

Greenberg's Gamble

Henry Greenberg, giant 210-pound Beaumont first baseman last year, is the infield gamble who day by day is making the wager look safe. Harris has Greenberg on third in a desperate effort to develop him into a passable fielder, and not corner guard.

Greenberg batted .290 last year and paced the Texas League in home runs with 39. If he makes good at third, Henry Schube probably will get the infield utility job and the shortstop competition will be between Bill Rogell and Marv Owen. Reel was the regular last season but Harris has been impressed throughout spring training by the heavy hitting and clean fielding of Owen who batted .317 last year for Newark and played third base.

If Greenberg fails at third, Owen will go to the far corner, and Rogell will retain shortstop.

Gerald Walker in left, Ervin Fox in center and John Stone in right settled Harris' outfield problem. Walker and Stone were with the Tigers last year. Fox played with Beaumont and his .357 average led the Texas League in hitting.

The veteran Earl Webb, Jojne, White and Frank Doljack are the other outfield candidates.

The fox wraps his tail about him like a comforter while he sleeps.

GOOD THOUGHTS

Wide horizons! To those who love the out-of-doors those words spell beauty, freedom, restfulness. There are wide geographical horizons visible to the seeing eye to be explored by foot, road, air, boat. But there are others—wide horizons of true thinking, discernible only to the understanding eye—to be traversed by thought. These wide horizons, open to all, are freedom giving, dominion giving.

—The Christian Science Monitor

When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; What is man that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man that thou visitest him? Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands, thou hast put all things under his feet.
